

DME Funding Study | Professional Judgement Panel Nominations

Please use this form to submit nominations for Professional Judgement (PJ) Panels to support the DME Funding Study. For this study PJ panels will:

- Review evidence-based model resources and adjust as needed to best serve students in the District.
- Dig in more deeply in areas where the evidence-based model cannot provide the level of detail needed, generally focused on students with special needs or different grade spans. Examples include different tiers of service for English Learners, different settings for special education students, and adult education programs.

A series of PJ panels will be held in early August and will require a one-day commitment from members. Each panel will include educators from traditional and charter systems, including (but not limited to) those in the following roles:

- Teachers
- School administrators
- Student support professionals
- Budget managers
- System administrators

Participants for the panels will be selected utilizing a nomination process, allowing stakeholders from throughout the District to identify potential panel members. Nominees will preferably have significant experience working in the District and will have received awards and recognition for being leading educators in their fields. The study team will identify the types of participants necessary for each panel and then select members from the pool of nominees.

Nominations are due by June 23, 2023.
